Clare Estate's Resident is Santa to Community Christian Children's Choir

When the Community Christian Children's Choir sang for the residents at Clare Estate's Assisted Living Facility in Bordentown, NJ on Dec. 18th, they received a "gift" also, from one of Clare Estate's residents. Instead of candy or a toy, Juliana Lautz knit and donated Christmas hats for the members of the Children's Choir. Made of Red, White and Pink yarn, the hats were a real treat.

Performing the songs from their Christmas concert, the children, ages 5 to 18, thrilled the residents with their music and motion. Using hand moves, instruments, lights and scarves, the children were colorful and animated throughout.

Under the watchful direction of Pat Weitz, Hamilton, NJ, the children sang "Go Tell It On The Mountain" and other contemporary Christmas songs. There was even a sing-a-long with some favorites.

"What a lovely gift for our children. We never expected a gift. We usually bring the gifts, not receive them. This made a special impression on our children that a stranger would go to so much effort for them. It was a true "topper" for our Christmas season," said Pat Weitz.

The Community Christian Children's Choir is a division of the Community Christian Choir, celebrating its 27th season this spring is a multi-denominational choir whose mission is excellence in music ministry. 130 members strong, the choir sings benefit concerts for charities in the Central Jersey region; such as HomeFront, Anchor House and Families In Transition, Inc.
